Connecting Mining Companies with Investors

PRIORITY CLIENT SERVICE

We understand that a lot of value may have been added to your project in recent years, value not currently reflected in the market. The recent volatility and competition for the investment dollar means to maximise your chance of development success and market value you need to stand out from peers.

Q: HOW IS THIS ACHIEVED?

In many cases, companies are not aware of what investors want, or seek innovative ways to attract new investors. By highlighting the value and uniqueness of your company in a way that resonates with investors, we can raise your profile and chance of success. We have a large contact base across retail and institutional clients and can tailor strategies to suit.

YOUR INVESTMENT PARTNER

Mine Invest seeks to partner with companies which have potentially economic mining projects, and assist with analysis, planning and promotion, facilitating a smooth transition from project conception through to financing and development.

Connecting Mining Companies with Investors

WHY WE ARE DIFFERENT

Mine Invest is not a typical Investor Relations firm. In many cases we seek to partner with such firms. Our distinction is in developing deep relationships within our clients, and a high level understanding of their projects and objectives. We aim to reduce the workload and stress associated with managing investor expectation and broaden the audience and investor base.

Having spent considerable time working with both the mining industry, and financial markets, we have developed a thorough knowledge of the techniques and approach needed to convince investors of a projects merits. We conduct detailed valuation work, project scoping and analysis, industry and peer comparison and risk assessment in our work for clients. Then we go about developing a strategy to communicate this to investors.

We can help you save money by reducing the cost of external consultants (and high project management fees) and design strategies that will place you ahead of the pack when the market inevitably turns.

NOW IS THE TIME TO INVEST, NOT HIDE

The industry is currently under a lot of pressure, with lower commodity prices and subdued markets for mining equities. Many companies react in different ways, however everyone is seeking to contain costs. Now is NOT the time to bury your head in the sand and give up on the equity market, despite the frustrations. Now is the time to invest in your business, and connect with the market. We look forward to discussing with you our Priority Client Service, and other benefits of working with Mine Invest.

VALUE ADDED SERVICE

By providing a link between management and external parties, including shareholders, and other stakeholders including project partners and consultants, we aim to ultimately save a company time and money by helping accelerate project developments. Many emerging companies will spend large amounts hiring internal staff to oversee everything from environmental management, government and community relations and investor services. We can assist in these areas, offering a tailor-made service which through external consulting work or short term secondment, offers unique flexibility and savings.
